I so needed to read this today. Thank you for being a beacon of love and light.

It's a blessing that you was encouraged. Mrs. Susie, I be the first to tell you I didn't know what real love was. It took a bad situation to happen to me. I didn't even know who I was for identity. I didn't feel like I had a purpose on earth. God had to pull me away from my husband, children and family because I had idols. Sometimes we love things, people and what they can do for us. Even though the situation was meant for the bad God turn around use it for his glory and good. Made me a better person.

Mrs. Susie I love you, so do the Lord.

Be encourage know that you are valuable God has you on the earth for a reason.
