

reply ID: hdx

efs

your comment

I am so happy for you to be able to speak so thoughtfully and eloquently about love. I hope that all of us can keep the truth of love in our hearts and remember these words. Thank you for sharing your thoughts with me.

We can keep the truth of love in our hearts and remember these words. As we focus on the positive outcome of loving somebody the correct way. There is always a bigger picture to focus. We should always focus on the outcome of a situation. Why because if we look at negative part. What ends of happening is that we lose hope of that person or situation ever changing. I don't care how bad a person or situation is. Things can change. You have to keep focus on the bigger picture. Be encourage.
Jennifer