

Hacking (concerning Russia and America.)

President Trump is basically saying that America's Intelligents don't know their job. Do not have all the facts behind what they are saying concerning Russia. Excuse you, President Trump they may have messed up with the Afghanistan War. But Guess what the U.S. Intelligent's redeemed themselves. They became better than ever. President Trump did you get Saddam Hussein and the other Al Qaeda leaders. No but they did. So you have the room to criticize them harshly. That is not acceptable from the U.S. President. Stop trying to size up. This not what you think it is with Vladimir Putin. Donald Trump says he knows what's going on. I will shake it on Tuesday President Trump says - we never seen the brief with Americans. This were a large portion of American people at. They don't have time for foolishness. You either know what your talking about or you don't. Are you trying to make yourself feel important or be a people pleaser. We ~~need~~ don't need a people pleaser as a president. We need a president who ~~too much people's interests~~ Cares about all people of America.

- With President Trump and Vladimir Putin I sincerely hope this is not another Eric Snowden situation in disguise. My question how much information they have shared with each other already? With my friends I share every aspect of my life with them. When I get ready to make some ~~the~~ decision in situation. I'll be wanting to know their input.
- Second thing came to my mind if this is not the case with President Trump and Vladimir Putin. Sometimes the leader is scared of the people under him or her. Because they can go to another dictator or their leader in makeup a lie on that person. Guess what I know that person they have done this or that to other people. Because the leader scared they let the people under them do what they want. It's like the people under the leader is in charge. Because they have taken over. All because those under him can cause ~~the~~ trouble. As a leader I had to encounter that. The people under my leadership tried to put fear in my heart by going to tell my leader things that was not true. I uprooted them quickly, ~~I~~ I told them because you're not going to run nothing and your not going to bully me. now if you have a suggestion I am open to listen. But your not going to intimidate me.

The people under Vladimir Putin's rulership could be talking amongst themselves. Them dag gone blast Americans ain't nothing but spies why because Eric Snowden. How many times they have spied on us. Donald Trump is our friend but the leaders they have now is not no friend of ours or the people in that government right now. We gonna help our friend Donald Trump in the election. But we gonna teach them dag gone Americans a lesson we can get them if we want to. I truly believe its the people under Vladimir Putin. There needs to be a investigation. I began to pay attention more when Vladimir Putin didn't react to the sanction being put on Russia. I feel like because he personally knows their is a problem but he can't go against his Russian people. Even though he recognize what they did was wrong in his heart but what can he do because the control has gotten out of hand. He is hoping his friend Donald Trump can help him with these personal issue to make things better with America. So you see you can have a good leader Vladimir Putin but the people under you can over shadow who you really are. In my heart I believe Vladimir Putin could be a good person deep down but the people under him want do right and their somebody up holding them in the wrong. So that ties the leader hand in that country and innocent people are suffering in Russia. In a lot of these country their are harmful tradition that need to be broken and did away with in these country that is hurting the people overseas and causing them to be a certain way towards other countries. They know what they are (these traditions). what they need to change. Because the truth of the matter, we all need each other - but no one need deception in dealing with each other.
