Just when I was coming to my lowest. Thank God for your faith and trust in the Lord.

Yes, I totally agree even tho I am your biological father I lost all rights to call or consider myself your father. Your blog reply was very straight forward and truthful and I really appreciate that coming from you after so long. Thank you for holding no ill will towards me. It was very kind and truly forgiving of you, God Bless you.

As of March 10, it will be 14 long hard years here behind the wall and I have learned a lot about myself. In order for me to be real as you put it here I had to first seek forgiveness from God. As you suggest here in your reply I find God and send ^{my} guilty thine in prayer. Well thank you for the good advice but you about 6 yrs. to late. What could have possibly gotten me through this Hell other than the Lord Jesus Christ? I will get here to share my complete story another time, as it is quite long, But I will say this, if it weren't for me coming into prison when I did, I'd be dead for sure!!!

I now carry no self hatred or guilt I have found a better way to see myself through Jesus and his unwavering forgiveness. I will never again feel alone or fear of dying alone. This Sarah is what God has done for me. To bad it took 60 yrs!

Thank God everyday for you Mother and the family.

And I personally thank you for your forgiveness. I'd have so many questions about all of you, but I don't believe this the right time to start asking.

Would I be right in assuming you have my present address? If not;

Please feel free to write me here directly. And again if you feel that I somehow deserve it, a picture or 2 would be seen as a blessing.

I tried so many times to locate you guys through ~~the~~ Inter-Net getting different addresses each time. But then I realized I wouldn't have had the write words to say anyway.

There was one Christmas where I believed you lived in Chelsea and I sent a bunch of Christmas card asking for forgiveness, all without response. Thinking this and that but always thinking you all hated me.

Let me close here before I say the wrong thing. And as you say here, the way I've approached this situation very differently in the past!! You mother has taught all of you well!! God Bless Her...

P.S. That picture would mean so much.

God bless ALL of you...
