

vent135,

Thank you for your comment on my poem entitled "Troubled thoughts" I write poetry to express myself and give people on the outside a glimpse into my mind to see that just because I am in prison doesn't mean that I can't be better.

I made a mistake in the past and I've paid for it, but my crime doesn't define who I am. I am taking this opportunity to overcome all adversity to become great even with a criminal record.

Thank you once again, and I thank you for sharing with me. More raw, deep and intense emotions are sure to follow on my blog.. Stay tuned..

Yours Truly,

Kevin Egan
