

1/23/17

RE:

STILL IN A SEGREGATION UNIT:

I Finally Got A CONTACT VISIT. (POST) . . . .

GREETINGS . yes im still here, trump was elected moron, i mean President of the U.S. , i didnt vote for him though. But im willing to change my views of him if he starts releasing all prisoners.

Okay a quick update. sorry for not writing sooner. been kind of busy. i got things to do now a days 😊

I was finally allowed to have a contact visit with my sister this past saturday. and it was really nice to hold her after 30 something years, she said its been 33 yrs.

i said 35 years since we last had contact, but who cares one day is too damn long. that visit made my day. i am still happy cuz of it.

my sister wanted to take a picture, which we did. i told her id leave my glasses on though because i had a black eye from a fight i was in on wednesday. so it was fresh still. i didnt want her to see it, because shed think i started it like i normally did. i told her im a different person these days. i no longer start fights i finish them, i got a blk eye but the other guy looked way worse.

the messed up part of it all is that the Parole Board will see it as a fact that i have not changed and any violence looks bad. the last fight they denied me ten years. this guy looked worse so im really worried right now. 😊 I may need to change my response and let the other guy sock me up so i could get some sympathy what do you think.