

WRITE ME!

1599339

Teddy Drake #

Without a Woman

I didn't quite know how to title this ☺ usually I do it through a personal response But the questions didn't seem all that personal to you since it was for research I'd be happy though to help you in any way I can. I almost made a mistake and used ur name

- Ways Men deal with Missing women in prison? To me there are many ways a man misses a "woman" emotionally if it is a certain woman, physically if its women in particular it can be the flirtatiousness, ect... you all get the idea ladies Its the love and to be loved knowing we are wanted by someone many of us lost ones. On the way like myself in general and I yearned for so long to have a woman in my life to not only feel I was attractive enough but to know I had someone there for me who cared for me as I did them. We dreamed of meeting someone through writing who I could take the pain away of not having someone so I dealt with it by keeping hope not just giving up I preoccupied my thoughts in reading, by writing to reach out to others and maybe help someone keeping hope alive that someone would see my sincerity and reply. We miss a woman's tender touch, her sweet kiss, the smile in her eyes. I could go on...

To deal with it I've continued to put myself out there, Per Pal sites like Meet on Innate.com as you will see but unfortunately I haven't had any luck. I read as a form of escape and keep my mind off of it all. Other men seek the next best thing you should read through my past blogs.

- I wouldn't say we change fully we become uncertain on how to approach a woman because we haven't been around them in so long and I feel when I become honest when I meet someone they may feel different about me because I've been to prison.
- Men do change not being around a woman not knowing what to say, being away we become more self absorbed. Some become animals not being able to control their lust.
- When released I fear not being able to provide "the perfect date" to cater to her and provide classiness.
- I believe we could never not know how to deal with a woman's touch. It's what we yearn for and not just sexually.

I've read Romantic Books, Erotic Books and looked at Explicit pictures to keep in touch with the Intimacy. So don't think its weird if you come home and your Guy is looking at a Porno Site its not you thats not just "doing it for him" (he's doing what he's had to do while locked away and if your not going to be there for him in that fashion then hes going to do it that way you gotta understand there is alot of pent up desires. I may have gotten off the Subject or jumped to one not asked.

We may not even remember what women like or how to show proper attention or we may show too much making you feel suffocated

When my Ex wife left me I was filled with anger until I realized in that Relation ship I might not have been truly happy I felt abandoned I learned to get over it and move on, and now Im completely healed of that

But yes I do yearn to meet someone get to know them and find happiness within this place It could make men appreciate a woman more and show proper respect.

appreciate you more these are good Guys in here and there are some Some in here will even try to use a woman for just what they can get from them or visits

I frown on all this is why I chose to expose the truth.

- The way men change? Good = we appreciate you for you, become content with just one woman, want to settle down and experience life with just you. Bad = only look for sexual release, to use you and others at the same time and fool you, leading you to believe they are coming home to you and have other plans

I can go on with so much more to all these questions but can only fit so much so if you'd like simply write

Teddy Drake #15091339

Daniel with 0-99

938 FM 1673

Snyder TX 79549

(OR) JPay.com (Email)

I almost made the mistake and used the person's name as a title for these questions its a simple thing that I could of screwed up simply since I've been out of touch, that a woman might have felt uncomfortable with I guess there is a another thing stumbled upon that changes in us "It makes us think about our actions and the consequences we become more sensitive to her feelings you know for some men being away from a woman could be a good thing in grooming us to become "the perfect man for a woman." Shocking isn't it?

Listen you know who you are your subject was intriguing and I'd like to hear more of your research So if you'd like write to me and fill me in I'd really enjoy hearing about it, I'm sure you have more questions and this is extended to anybody there's more to this subject.