

Valentines

Valentines is the only holiday where we yearn to have someone special in our lives to share it with. a day to express our love and interest .to make that special person feel without a doubt cared about and to show we are thankful to have them and only them Its a day filled with sweets from chocolate covered strawberries to the lovable and adorable teddy bears. Its in the candle light dinners we share, glasses of wine and the delightful meal.

the holding of hands and look in our eyes Its the sweet kiss we anticipate and touch of tenderness curled up on a couch in each others embrace. Its the lovely sound of (I LOVE YOU)!!!

Something no one wants to miss. but, It doesnt have to be just one day! Everyday can be your Valentine! And if you dont have none of the above? Dont just sit and wait. He or she could be an old click of the mouse away... All you have to do is take a leap of faith.

Guys in here arent all that bad, they are just as lonely as you. Searching and waiting for their true love too. their Valentine... You'll see many of us desiring your interest. With a moment of your time and a stamp(or) even a click of a JPAY EMAIL.(YOU COULD) start something that could find your true Valentine

Through Between the bars, Meet an inmate as you will see i am on just waiting to be found like a diamond in the rough:) Heck, it may not even be me. there are many others who seek the same as you.

You know your value as do i and i consider myself confident that who i do meet will find no other who will adore her and treat her like the queen she is Its knowing and understanding your true value and that little leap of faith. Dont sit back and let someone good pass you by!

Tips with your search;

*be aware of their sentence and begin date, just because they have 25 years;) doesnt mean they are going to be locked away forever. you can always look on the tdc web site for parole status. if they have more then one year set off they have an aggravated charge. yes you may have to wait a few years but, you'll be getting to know them.

*you can also go on to the tdc inmate visitation list to see if they have a wife or girlfriend listed some may still have it showing because it just hasnt been deleted yet just like me. I was married when i came in but have been divorced for four years now. You can read about it in my old post.

All of this is to ensure you in a successful search. I hope this help you find your true Valentine!!!
