

Dear Johnycocoron,

Support your right to express your opinion 100%. I just have to say that you are wrong when it comes to your viewpoint that prison programs help to "rehabilitate". They do not. For the most part they are just there to create more DOC jobs. With that said, Bryce has used positive adjustment to become a different person. You see him from the "employee" or "outsider" viewpoint. I do not. It does no one any good, and does not serve as a deterrent or equal justice, to keep him locked up for another four years. It is just plain vengeance, when what we need is justice tempered with mercy.

Oh by the way... I am a "Rabble Rouser", not a "ramble" rouser as you call me; and proud of it. Like Zeppelin said, "Ramble On"!

Have faith in humanity and our ability to change. See beyond the hatred. I am,

In Struggle,
