

"The meeting of two personalities is like the contact of two chemical substances: if there is any reaction, both are transformed." - C. D. Jung

Dear Readers,

03/08/17

Howdy! I hope everyone is well & happy.

Things overall have been OK for me, although I'm not in the best mood right now. The reason for that will be explained.

I met someone last month. His name is Warren. He got here a couple weeks before I did, but I rarely saw him on the compound & we never really spoke. Well, last month I was on the Rec yard & went up to a couple of guys I knew who happened to be talking to Warren. So make a long story short, he introduced himself & we started talking & then hanging out right after that. Since then we started spending most of our free time together.

Warren is primarily "straight," but he has A LOT of time to do & he decided that he didn't want to be alone all that time. It's still a new relationship & I am a little wary after what happened last time, but so far he has been really great & I care about him a lot. I really hope this works out.

(2)

Unfortunately... the bad news. He's in the Hole (Segregation) right now & it's not even his fault. This past Thursday he moved to another cell in his unit (we're in different units, which sucks). The very next day, on Friday, his new cell was searched & his cellie was "washing stamps" & he was told they found some drug residue in his cellie's washing materials. (Washing stamps: taking used stamps & cleaning off the markings by the post office so they can be used again).

So, he just moved in this cell & went to the Hole the next day because of something his cellie did. Ireat.

This really sucks. I have been grateful to get a couple notes from him (smuggled on the food trays & someone in the Kitchen finds them), but unfortunately I can't get any word to him. He thinks he'll get out this week & ~~and~~ I am really, really hoping he does. I miss his dumb ass!

There were a few stabbings a couple weeks ago. I heard there were 3 one night. Stabbings never happen here. It was some political BS started by some black guys (shock). We were locked down for a couple days & that was it. Unfortunately they've been searching guys a lot more. These idiots only make things worse for everyone in the long run.

3

I started going to the Buddhist services again. Warren decided he wanted to change to Buddhism right after we met & so I've been going with him. Of course, I skipped it while he's been in the Hole. I still think some of those people are hypocrites.

Right now I'm stuck in the chapel for the Wicca services. I'm on the callout (it's like an appointment) & they have started writing guys an incident report if they don't show up. I have never been in a prison where they require you to show up for religious services.

Well, that's not much news but it's the latest. Until next time, I wish you ...

Love & Blessings,

PS - Warren got out of the Hole today! Yah!