Refiners Fire

It's been many months since I've posted on my Blog. The state cleared my typewriter when I transferred to a Level 2 Prison for good behavior. It was not "clear plastic" as the new appliance guidelines mandate, I am ashamed of my penmanship. You see I have 3 fingers on my ~~left~~ Rt hand that are non-viable & held on by 6 screws, makes it hard to write."

I've been "going thru it". In July I suffered a severe attack that ended with a horrendously painful condition called Ludwig's Angina Syndrome. I received no treatment for 52 days. It ended with a emergency ablance, flat line in ER, emergency surgery & 28 days in Hospital. The pain haunts me to this day. My days have been dominated by fear. I've believed satanic lies & lived in isolation, fear & darkness.

Today, every attitude sinful I laid down & said "Lord". TBN is on T.V. and the program is testimony & worship.

As I laid back - silent - I had a vision. In a Southern Baptist. Were not big on Visions, But vision it was. I was suspended

Kinda hangin in space and a light like fire was blazin at me. I seemed to be almost transparent. I had a lone, single thought - Refiners Fire!

I had laid there "Trippin" as we say, being blasted by fire, not knowing what this meant as I've never experienced anything like it. One minute in a Worship Song comes on T.B.N, all the sudden I could hear it loud. The song that began a minute after my on-going vision began had lyrics that proclaimed . . .
Love Like Fire!

I've never heard that expression before but I'll never forget it -!

Something happened - but just not sure what?!

Praise God.

Love + Prayers

P.S. Please pray for my protection for a Bad Prison Song has decided to seek my final destruction
