

Between the bars.org / blogs / soa / laws

To all those who followed my blog and enjoyed my writings. I would like to deeply apologize for ~~causing~~ <sup>the</sup> hiatus, I been going thru a lot in these past years. I been dealing with so many loses in my life that all I could do was retreat and search ~~within~~ within myself for the strength to continue in my quest to understand life.

I have lost my homies, my i.l brother, and my father in the span of 4 years. Again I apologize and hope for your forgiveness.

Now I am back and I promise to atleast post something once a month. Thank you for your support and understanding. Also, I will be posting something call "My Thoughts", it would random things in my mind I would love to share to you.

Sincerely,

Souvannaseng

"River of Dreams"

I look across the river
on the other side lies my dreams
I am stagnated
Scared that I might drown
I have no faith in my own strength
So I don't attempt to swim

I look across the same river
My dreams still lies there waiting
I close my eyes envisioning it
Then my eyes open's back up
I am still standing on the other side of my dreams
Not acheiving it is my own fault

I again look across the same river
My dreams still lies there waiting
So I jump in Determination and will strengthens my strokes
I finally make it to the other side
It's no longer a dream
But a fruition of my reality

Now I look back to the opposite side
I see my fears and stagnations left behind
The anchors that would've drown me
So I turn around
Leaving all my anchors behind me
Now I dwell in the reality of success....
