

IN THE NAME OF ALLAH, THE MOST
GRACIOUS, THE MOST MERCIFUL!

APRIL 9, 2017

Dear BTB readers,

How are you? Yes, i apologize for the long wait on my end, but so much has transpired. I guess that will make for more juicy stories, right? How about I just start with the basics: since the last time i posted anything, i have writeen two short stories, promoted my first published novel, written the first book in my trilógy called, CADILLAC, which is at the typesetters as we speak. On the down side, i lost my institution job because of my lack of awareness. It was an infracttion that i took for granted until I came across the wrong officer and was pinched for it. Lets just say I learned a valuable lesson because it has costed me another year in maximum prison. A few people from my team has also been MIA, but through it all, I have gained more perserverance than i had ever thought possible.

This will be a brief post with a picture to let the world see me and what i've been up to. I will, however, post more often now since I have gotten my mind in the right place. You would think that with one doing prison time, that we would have all of the time in the world. But that's just not true. Most of the time, i'm fighting with myself not to become bitter, nor let my negative surroundings turn me into something that i'm not. So most of my time is spent reading, meditating, and seeking guidance from the Creator. For those who aren't spiritual, then I spend time reflecting and trying to find understanding out of what i'm going through. I can only imagine how much more difficult it is for you all out there in the world dealing with everyday problems. This is only a microcosm of freedom.

For those of you who've been there from the very beginning, then you know my release date will come soon. And for those of you just joining or hearing about me for the first time, check out some of my earlier posts. I have a profile on WriteAPrisoner.com, and a novel published on www.Prisonsfoundation.org. Again, my blog is about everything and anything. From politics to race, sex, and life behind bars. People who are just getting out or have been out a while, please share you stories. Some of the very same things, problems, dilemmas, and drama you faced, i will see soon and would love to know how you dealt with them. It would be an honor to hear from you.

To all of you who would love to read more of my writing, I can promise you this: that i will try posting as often as I can. No less than twice a months. if you have any questions you would like to ask me, please leave a quick post and I will get to it as soon as I can. And to you who are interested in some of the things that i am working on, here's one, I am trying to release a couple of t-shirts with different drawings from prisoners. A few of the drawings will feature sayings and quotes from my upcoming releases. As i mentioned easlier, my novel Cadillac should be out this year unless ~~an~~ an unfortunate travesty happens. But stay on the look-out.

until next time, you're on A DAY IN THE LIFE, with me.

Take care of yourselves,
