Love Note

6-8-17

Good morning my love. Winter has turned to Spring and the light of day starts shining through my window at 5 a.m. showing me the glow of your face from the pictures on my wall. I can see you smiling at me, the light in your eyes. There's a picture of Steve and Tim together - they're laughing at me. There's a picture of James, Marcella, Linda, Ted, + Tony; what are they grinning at? But it is your pictures that draw my eyes and puts a morning smile on my face that most days I'm able to keep all day - until we are back in one another's arms at night. ☺

There was a full moon out last evening as brightly as the sun filling my cell with a ray of light directly on your pictures making them brilliant. I swear your smile got bigger and you stuck your tongue out at me and laughed and it reminded me of every laugh we have ever had together. ☺

Dreaming of you makes my nights seem so short and getting up in the morning so much harder. ☺ I feel my lips touching yours as I kiss you good morning every morning. ☺ I love you ☺

Forever & Ever your Steve
