

"Truly A Star"

Deep within the heart of despair, a flickering flame
of hope doth yet burn, Dancing about quite jubilently, despite all the world's spurn.

For in the midst of all the pain and sorrow, doth
love yet grow.

Sprouting from the rich and bloody soil of mine
own heart;

Madness - it doth overthrow,
sweeping away the shadows of yesterday,
It doth ensure, a brand new start.

The distance betwixt your heart and mine,
holds back naught!

A language each doth speak, words and phrases; heard not by mortal ears,

A language the ancients secretly
taught.

Every man, woman, and child;
Truly - they are stars.

As your love in mine own heart,
doth yet, still shine.

My beloved daughter & friend
the brightest star in the heavens!
