

Hated by Society - Beloved of God - A Sex Offenders' story pg. 1

Hello everyone, I want to share my life with you so that you can see how Father God treasures all of us. Let me give you a little background first. I was sexually abused by my step father from the age of 4 to 11 and I was tortured by a male family member for several years. I believed the only person who could love me was my mother. I realized I was gay at 12 and hated myself for it because at that time homosexuality was UN-NATURAL AND DANGEROUS. I dropped out of college and joined the Army during Desert Storm and suffered a massive heart stroke that put me into a coma. When I woke up I was seeing things and hearing voices. I began suffering mood swings, depression and rage. When I was discharged I started drinking and using drugs and having sex with anyone that showed interest. I went to jail within 6 months because I tried to kill a man who was involved in molesting my 4 yr old nephew, his own dad. I did close 5 yrs in prison. I had already started cutting on myself and trying to kill myself before the incident so while locked up I was diagnosed as Schizo Affective Disorder. When I got out I lived on the streets for a while, started partying heavier and having many, many lovers. I was informed that I wasn't a veteran but I finally got social security disability. During this time I hated God, blamed him for all the horrible stuff that happened to me and in the world after all, if he really was all powerful why didn't he protect me, protect us all. I promised that if I ever met God I would punch him in the eye. I moved to Texas to help an old friend and his family who were having serious money problems. I met a 14 yr old boy who for some reason thought I was as cool as a glacier. I had been openly gay since I went to prison but I was a serious badass. I had the life style of a rock star without the music or money. I had been in over 400 fights and had been with over 400 guys but I ~~was~~ was crushingly lonely. I still believed no one would or could love me. Well, that 14 yr old boy convinced me we were soul mates. I'm not saying it was his Fault. It was my fault AND I'm not trying to make excuses, just trying to explain. I was desperate to be loved, on drugs and mentally ~~and~~ he was in pain. He had been getting molested since he was 5. We lived together for 7 or 8 months and one night he and one of his friends asked me to have sex with them at the same time. I did and now I'm serving a fifteen yr sentence - ran together - for Sexual Assault of a Child. My mother died in her sleep on Oct. 28, 2010 and my brother killed himself Oct. 28, 2011. They were the only family I had that were writing me. In 2012 I helped a 19 yr old fight off a gang member who was trying to rape him ~~but I was~~ jumped by 10 of his Homeboys. I was so severely beaten - while guards were watching - that I had a severe concussion for 4 months and had a massive heart attack for over 10 hours before the guards let me see a nurse. Well I tried to kill myself and went to a psych unit until I was sent here. I ended up cutting myself and when I got back here I met a christian dude named Dustin who had been through a lot of the same kinds of stuff I had so we became friends. He talked to me about God and I told him about magic and all the religions I had studied. He was trying to bring me to God and I was trying to get in his pants. One day he told me he believed I was possessed by demons and that if I went to chaplains office with him that I could be healed. I went with him to prove to him and everyone else that there was no God. After over 3 hours of praying of me cussing and crying and demanding that if there was a God that he had to prove that he loves me, the voices that I had hearing everyday stopped. God cured me of a mental illness that I had been suffering from for almost a quarter of a century. Father God has been with me since that day. Now I'm not saying my life is perfect. The Enemy attacks me constantly and ~~some~~ sometimes I struggle and stumble but God is with me and he brings me through. This blog site, almost everything I write is about what I'm going through and God is doing for me. If you read all of my post you will see that I'm ^{not} who I was before the miracle. Glory to God. Now let me tell you why I'm writing this. I'm still gay and I have so many flaws no one would ever mistake me for perfect and I don't read the Bible a lot because I've seen too many Christians use it as a weapon but God is with me and he tells or shows me what ~~he~~ he wants me to do. Yesterday July 1, 2017, Father God put into my mind a plan that he said would change the world. It will be called "The Heart of God's Purpose Ministries" its motto will be "Yes, I am my brothers and sisters keeper because God loves all of his children". There are many aspects to what he showed me but it will be a hand up for anyone who needs help, orphans, street kids, gang members, families, single men and women and ex-cons, it will help them with education and/or vocational training, treatment for drugs/alcohol/psych problems, to find jobs, transportation, relocation, counseling. No one will be turned away and nothing will be done by this ministry that doesn't glorify Father God. This is his world and he's taking it back because he loves us and doesn't want us to live in misery anymore, and he is asking all who love him to help. Old houses and apartments buildings will be bought and fixed up and sold to those who have the greatest need on a rent to own basis at no more than a 10% profit above the actual cost of purchasing and repairing it. God told me that more than 10% profit is a sin. Cars, appliances and furniture will be done the same way, all profits will be used to fund the ministries projects and pay its employees. Anyone who wants to do work for the ministry and put part of their pay towards their item is great, no credit will be needed, no mortgages, no loans just people who need help, getting it! If someone runs into trouble it will be worked out, they will not be abandoned and lose everything. The world will be a better place if we take some responsibility and do something about it. God's purpose is for us to be happy and to love and help each other, period. God wants this to be world wide, what better way to introduce God's love than to show it! There is no area of life that cannot use God's blessing, guidance and protection. If anyone has ideas to help this ministry, please share it with me. The only reason I can think of for God to share this with me is that only through using someone who was as twisted and broken as me is so the world can see the glory of his love. God bless you and keep you always.
