"Friend and Jesus"

I always use to think, what if my friend was allowed to somehow read one of my tear drops that carries all my sorrows, secrets, hurts and failures, that are a result from my broken heart. Would they still want to be our friend? Would we become a burden or judged? Maybe... But our friend Jesus will never, ever leave us. He stands there waiting, wanting us to call out to him because he wants us and accepts us just the way we are. He will never leave us now for sake us.
