"You may say I'm a dreamer. But I'm not the only one."
[John Lennon] The journey continues. How long have I been misspelling Journal (Journal?) I want to thank Lisfitell for her post. It's nice to know that people are reading and liking my words. I got to shots Friday. One in my left arm for Tetanus, diphtheria, and pertussis (Tdap). The PPV for pneumococcal disease, what ever the hell that is. The doctor said I needed it because I keep getting these ear + eye infections. This one I got in my right arm. The needle was 2 inches long - I said what the hell, and the RN said they ran out of the other needles. Slightly story."

They say "ignorance is bliss" and that "you can't unknow what you now know." Been up since 3 with my hands hurting - still can close the left one can barely hold the pen with my right. Yesterday I had trouble eating dinner because my fingers kept locking up on the spoon. I'm going to start paper work today about it taking so long to see the rheumatologist (almost six months) I have a painting going that I want to get back to - I'll work on it some today no matter what. Jimmy Lee, the kid I've got for a celly thinks it's all fun + games here. I have to yell at him to get him to study for his Tade test. I know he can pass it if he'll just open a book up and study - he's not stupid. Everyone knows I'm not a disciplinary Tale some time, write a line. Let me know I'll not all alone.
