

In the land beyond forever
exists a place where I long to go
a place of simplicity
where all hidden secrets are known
such as my heart
her pain
her pride and the tears hidden just behind my eyes

Unwelcome, in the land I am
its too far away for me
Doesn't she know
I'm already alone
her only enemy
she shoots at me with malice and leaves me for dead then wonders so boldly why I have vultures
in my head
Such tormenting monsters they circle round and round eating my light and leaving me hollow...
In the land
beyond forever
a place I can't see Its a place I used to picture a place I created for me.
I offered her my life
a life with me alone
yet dejected
she rejected
a place to call home.
Can she see the coldness I've become how the ice on my heart is freezing the land beyond Forever is so far too far
been far
for me to reach the pain in my eyes
blinds me to such things I ache to see her through the clouds yet, she brought the storms and drowned me out
there is no more me snuffed out
when she refused to fight

In the land beyond forever cont.

my world was ripped apart with the fire in her eyes.
The bullets are fatal
as she fires from the gun I can't get up to tell her to stop knowing she has won.
In the land beyond
forever
I wish I could go but instead here I am the wretched untold.
