

Son,

I'm so sorry I haven't been able to write to you directly. As you know Sarah Cookie has been here once to see me. It seemed like all was going well between us and the healing and forgiveness had started. AMEN!

I received a letter from her dated Dec 14, 17, the official post mark was Feb 28, 18. I'm as confused as you are?! But more importantly she told me the story of picking up Joshua and you "Offing" the release of your info to me in order I could write directly to you. I was so excited after trying so hard

She explained how excited she was and was praising God for this blessing.

And as a side note, Son, you stepping up for Joshua like you pass makes me even prouder of you than I was already.

So I'd guess what I'm trying to say is, I can't write cause she never wrote down your address in the "One" and only letter I've received from her since Christmas 2017!?! I have no clue what's in her head,? But need you to know that I would have wrote to you personally if she had provide me your address <sup>THINK</sup>

Don't for one second I've screwed up again. I was the one that used this service (Behind the Bars) to try to contact you and all of the family. I must have sent 10 Christmas card to the Chelsea address and never got any type of response. This, except from you. I was very touched by your response saying "you loved me alot but I'd broke your heart". Never ever be scared, I'm not that guy anymore. After 15 yrs in these places I've come to learn alot about myself.

So write to me here or use the Blog Cite: Be Smart, Be Good, Love Your Family <sup>Big Brother</sup> <sub>70</sub>
