

SOLUTIONS

I'm not a person who complains about a problem without offering a solution for it. I also don't like listening to people gripe without suggesting solutions to their gripes. Following are some problems & my suggested solutions to them:

PROBLEM 1: Racial & religious tensions.

SOLUTION: I've written in-depth articles in which I use Bible scriptures, history, & common sense logic to explain why we have these problems & what should be done to resolve them. I need someone out there to set up a site to place my writings on for people to read them & hopefully take action upon.

PROBLEM 2: Flooding & droughts.

SOLUTION: Most floodings are along the Gulf coasts of Texas, Louisiana, & Mississippi during severe storms & hurricanes. Most droughts are in California & Arizona. Many billions of dollars are & have been paid out by the federal government in disaster relief. The federal government needs to take preemptive measures by building a pipeline system from the Mississippi River area to California along I-10, & have "tributary" stations along the way that either feed into the main system or distribute it out to the drought areas. When there is no drought, a tributary station can pump the water into either the Salton Sea or straight into the Gulf of California. Such a system would prevent floodings & deaths, while feeding that water to drought areas to prevent loss of crops, etc.

PROBLEM 3: NFL (& other sports'?) athletes disrespecting the national anthem.

SOLUTION: First of all, the NFL can simply either make it a rule that all players must stand for the anthem, or, play the anthem before the players take the field. But as for the players themselves, if they truly feel so strongly that police officers are that bad, then all those players need to quit their high-paying NFL jobs & become police officers themselves! Any players  not willing to take action by becoming cops themselves, need to shut the heck up & stand for the anthem. Otherwise their protestings are pure hypocrisy by wealthy prima donnas & racists hating on what they call "white man's system".

PROBLEM 4: School shootings/murders.

SOLUTION: It seems students merely want to follow the "protest only" attitude of NFL players without wanting to assume any responsibility for their own lack of proper actions. After shootings occur, there are always students revealing they "knew" that fellow or former student had made threats of some kind, yet very most never told any appropriate governmental authorities beforehand. The solution is NOT to take away or diminish the Right to bear Arms - because the evil people will always get their guns & weapons somehow & commit their crime regardless. The government needs to make it law to offer high dollar rewards to "whistleblowers" & teach this law to students every year. But rather than using such a derogatory term, a name such as "morals hero" should be used to encourage students (& all citizens) to tell the authorities whenever anyone makes any kind of threat. And naturally - the government must then take proper action on the information given by the morals hero(es). You'd be amazed at the high percentage of times people knew in advance crimes were going to be committed - yet said nothing beforehand. High dollar rewards with constant reminders of them by the government would greatly reduce crimes from occurring in the first place.

PROBLEM 5: Catching criminals, crime deterrence, & resolving civil disputes.

SOLUTION: With today's technology, surely we can invent some kind of "truth-telling technology" ("3T"). Perhaps such technology already exists but hasn't been made public because it could also be used on corrupt government officials, lobbyists, etc. Regardless, the 3T, when "applied" to a person, should be such that the person is unable to lie & can only reveal all truths. It should be law that anyone suspected of a crime must submit to the 3T application, & it should all be recorded on video & audio. That way the suspect will give complete confession in detail if guilty, or, prove innocence if not guilty, & it will all be recorded as evidence. No trials will be needed for the guilty, which means less government spending on prosecutors, judges, & public defenders. Maybe even police officers. Entire gangs can be arrested in 1 day simply by hooking the 3T up to 1 member, letting him give the names of others, then hooking them up until all members are caught & confess. Such a 3T application can also be used on people who are in civil disputes, including for he said - she said divorces & law suits. Once all citizens & others in the U.S. are aware of the 3T technology, it will be a great deterrent to anyone considering committing any criminal act or lying in a civil matter. It will also force politicians to be more honest. Imagine that!!!!:)
