Thanks for the feedback, Cavak! Looks like I was off on my location estimation. I should've known Vandenberg was to the south, though... after all, I live in Southern California! Anyway, it's still April, so I'm glad you corrected me in time. No doubt my driver would've been upset by a miscalculation of half a state. Oh, and, do you (or does anyone) have the address I need to write to for arranging an Uber by snail-mail from prison? I mean, that is a service, right? "Uber Xfelon," I think? => Instead of a BlackCar, maybe they send a StolenCar, like a hotwired '98 Civic or something?

BTW, you said Vandenberg is "west of Los Angeles County". Hmm... are you sure? I always thought the only thing west of LA County was the Pacific Ocean? LOL! Well, maybe they launch from pontoons. ;) Tnx again!
