

Love Note

5/4/18

My Dearest Love.

Keeper of my heart, as old and worn out and scared as it is. You have been the cause of a billion times a billion smiles on what has become a wrinkled old face. You are the cause of the Sun coming up in my world each and every morning.
You are my cool summer breeze under a blazing hot Sun. You are my Spring walk down a mountain path. You are my warm rain in the winter.
You are the water from a running creek that I drink in the Fall. You are the laughter I hear somewhere in the back of my mind. You are the tears that roll down my cheeks when I feel lost and all alone. You are every picture I paint every poem I write. You are my past and my future.
You are my dreams of everlasting happiness. You are the steel steel bunt I lay on the eagle feather in my hat. You are all there ever was You are all there ever was all there ever will be for me. You're the sugar in my coffee, chocolate cake every night. You are the reason I know there is still hope for true love to exist. You are my Jeannie, You are the one I love. Happy Mothers Day I'll Love You Always Forever Ever Steve
