

Ronald W. Clark
June 30, 2018

"HELLISH EXPERIENCE"

page 1 OF 1

This has got to be one of the most hellish experiences on this planet, held for an indefinite period of time, in a small cage waiting to be killed. mentally toyed with for decades!"
waking up daily to look up at Four Corners of the ceiling, to set up in bed and stare out through steel bars, all of which reminds you that you're being warehoused for murder. Justice — oh yeah, Justice, the Fraudulently beautiful Facade for which American prosecutors arbitrarily pick and choose who shall live and who shall die!" For when you wake up thinking of how you got totally railroaded in this so called system of equality, thoughts of you're incompetent lawyers, the lies that were never exposed to the jury due to no cross examination. Justice!! yeah for the rich and powerful! "For the poor uneducated fool, you've got you a hellish cage and death sentence to struggle with every single day!" "struggle with regrets, pain, guilty, and a life time of it!" This cage, this sentence it's no joke!" you struggle some times minute to minute to survive. you're prayed to God for death to come. yet you continue to exist in a hellish existence!" No this cage and survival in here, is the most difficult thing you could ever possibly imagine. Cell bars start blending together, seeing shadows bugs on the wall, it's a mind game holding on to your sanity!" "you start constantly questioning your sanity, then you think, "Well I must be good, I'm still questioning it." But still in the back of your mind, there are those who you have witnessed slip past reality, and you wonder are you on the edge of losing it all. God knows this is a hellish experience.

Ronald W. Clark
The Death Row Poet