Zion,

Thank you for the belated SoulDay (birthday) greeting. My SoulDay was great because I celebrated it despite being inside this belly of the beast (prison) away from family and loved ones. I don't waste time crying over what I don't have, but instead I focus on what I do have, which right now is peace of mind and good health. These people who hold me captive for my labor may have my body, but they don't have my mind and spirit. I have the attitude to do the time and not let the time do me.

I truly agree, they (prisoners) don't have no empathy or heart. But I don't allow that fact to keep me from seeing the good in people... even those who hold me captive.

I'm still waiting on a ruling from the judge on my Post-Conviction Relief petition, but as far as I'm concerned "Victory" has already been won! You have what you say! Speaking my liberation (freedom) existence!
