

DOG BUSINESS CARDS:

Hello Cal.

I have a flood of adjectives parading through my mind after reading your comments posted 7/7 - just rec'd 8/14. I think that I can sum them all up simply by saying: Admirable. Thank you for taking the time to share your thoughts with me - and our audience - between the bars.

You'd wrote: "I stand to learn much more about understanding others". Well Cal, I stand in awe. Who are you? Your genius is brilliant! A beautiful mind you have... able to duplicate and originate such profound thought. Do you actually aspire to BE - empathic? I hope you don't mind if I ask if you're in any way considered an associate within the intelligentsia? You're certainly more than an ivory towered academician! Who are you Cal - what do you do? Whatever the case may be... touche'.

You say: "Since humans are (usually) much more complex than the words they write, there is much more for me to learn about understanding others". Aye, the braid of personality is often circumvented with the written word. Yet, as an educated man is as superior to uneducated men, as the living are to the dead - the written word can be an indicator of a persons heart condition per. Matt. 6:21. Thinking precedes Feeling, precedes Doing, you see? Noble Thoughts inspire noble deeds. Even in the case of a charlatan aspiring to appear greater than they feel - the ennobling Thought is there to BE coaxed, as you are so adept in doing. Amplifying noosphere signals... one way or another... is a pleasure, isn't it?

Thank you for your "social gadfly" acknowledgement. I too, recognized the resemblance - and barely evaded the end phenomena of those two gadflies you'd mentioned who also contended with status quo. You see Cal, in this pharisaical paradigm - it's all about who dares overwhelm who. Know it all's are hardest to convince though... so the most I expect to do is simply to point out the obvious - cruel as that sometimes seems - and then much like the fabled Medusa glimpsing her reflection in the mirror, pharisaism crumbles. At least as far as its power over me is concerned. In Matt. 23:27 they're called "whited sepulchres". And yes... Luke 11⁴⁵/54 is the game of overwhelmings I'd mentioned. Do you know the difference between a sacrificial Lamb and a Scapegoat? They are both vehicles of expiation. The Lamb takes peoples secrets to the grave, whereas the Goat is fortunate enough to be exiled - taking those secrets to the wilderness. Too many social gadflies succumb to the former, for some reason, I expect it may be related to the fact those gadfly accountants became fixated on the whistle blowing - at the expense of all other interests in life. That one is a hard one to recover from.

Constructive dialectics you say? Dichotomic considerations is certainly a process on our spiritual journey. Recognizing others - trapped by their points of view, does require tact. Thanks for reminding me of that.

Kierkegaard, et al... what is true for you is true for you. The "angle" of criticizing mediocrity of course would be to consider its opposite throughout history. But then ambitious aspirations are all too often villainized by vulgarions. Imagine Bach as the lead composer for the Beach Boys in a culture of pop art - music (sic). A round peg in a square hole is a struggle indeed!

Mental illness is a good subject to address. I'm reading a book by B.K. Zakman, titled: CLONING of the AMERICAN MIND, addressing architects of our consumer society prefers mediocrity. Eradicating Morality through Education, is the subtitle of this book. Homo Sapiens with sapience retarded have produced the following statistics: The Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (DSM) was first published by the American Psychiatric Association in 1952, listing 112 mental disorders. The DSM-II in 1968 listed 163 disorders. In 1980, DSM-III jumped to 224 disorders. In 1987 it listed 253. In 1994, DSM-IV contains 374 disorders. This is Johnsons great society? In planning by product, the Help Industry requires the disabled... and a disabled society is the easiest to govern/rule. Is this phenomena orchestrated... or is "mental health" deteriorating? Did you know the word Domesticate means; 4. to bring to the level of ordinary people. Ordinary... isn't that what mediocre means? In contrast, consider Genius 5b: extraordinary intellectual power, esp. as manifested in creative activity.

False Evidence Appearing Real

Do you have any idea how many geniuses are branded Criminal and exiled to Penal colonies? Tact is important, indeed! Imagine asking tough questions like - Who hurt you, brother? Who are you dramatizing when you dominate? Such intimacy is intimidating, so you can understand the honor involved when I'm able to inspire ACCOUNTABILITY. Perhaps I should try to apply the same compassion with them in position of "authority". Imagine asking a tyrant tough questions like - Who betrayed you? When did you determine to rule, rather than help? Exposing F. E. A. R. aberrations permits people to re-consider the impact they have in their zone of influence, you see? ACCOUNTABILITY. It can be life changing.

All my best. W.

“Now how would you get out of a prison if you were in one? I’m afraid you’d just do it by confronting. Everybody to some slight degree is a prisoner. He is a prisoner only to that degree that he is unwilling to confront an area. An actual physical area. Or an actual area of truth. He’s a prisoner.

“Man is having trouble with finance? Obviously, is unwilling to confront money. If a man is having trouble with marriage, there’s some part of marriage that he can’t confront. And where he can’t confront things, then he mocks up and creates some artificial structure which has no basis in truth at all and confronts that instead.

“You want to set men free or if you want men to be free or you yourself want to be freer than you are, all you have to do is find out what you’re willing to confront and what you’re unwilling to confront.”

— L. Ron Hubbard

P.S.

4/4

in re "side note - interest in music theory".

The following www sites may provide more to mull over:

jillshhealingmusic.com ; jillswingsoflight.com ; paintyoursoul.com ;

soundspiritandmatter.com ; neuroacoustic.org ; toning.org and particularly; www.harmonicinterferencetheory.com.

And regarding your interest in "reading" books/people ... you're correct, there is much more below the surface. Here are more www sites to view:

appliedscholastics.org ; studytechnology.org ; hubbardcollege.org

Scientologyhandbook.org ; KeytoLife.org ; able.org ;

and particularly; dianetics.org

Im interested to see what you say about what you find on these 14 sites. Bon Voyage.