

(Any Other Situation)

Opener:

We seem to find Attraction in the most uncommon place. But places and situations we know and feel is right, but is outta place at that time. Who or we to allow someone else to put a clip on our heart felt feelings, we have a right as humans to feel what we feel about who ever...

Message:

As individuals we like who we like, and is attracted to what melts our insides, it maybe a physical attraction, emotional connection or a mental acceptance but it's how we feel...

Ask yourselves! Has it been a point in your life whether you was at work, school, shopping or anywhere where you've saw a man or woman you knew off back that you were either physically attracted to? Or could connect with mentally or/and emotional?

Once you've answered that tell me which one of those things would keep your relationship healthy and strong for years to come...

Conclusion:

Don't stop these feelings cause it maybe best for you. But if your in a situation where the time isn't right, but you wanna open up your heart to that person. play your cards right and don't blow your chance or opportunity to take it slow and give it time, cause things will open up and that (any other situation) will final be (that situation)...

(Final Wisdom):

Your eyes maybe able to see what your heart feels. But don't allow what your heart feels, block what your eyes should see...
