Her attractiveness on the outside is only god sent for us men to respect, understand, and cherish. To understand a woman's beauty you have to shift your arousal to the beauty that's lost to the eye. A woman's attractiveness is what draws us to them. By using beauty in hopes to draw us men closer to their body, and become interested in learning their mind...

The magnificent beauty of a woman is inside of her, nothing on the outside can match the knowledge, wisdom, and life lessons she has stored within. In order to understand what's inside a woman you must first manifest the existence, and presence of a woman's perception of life. As men we seem to only periodically accept that women are our equal, leaving too much for our women to perish in thought, as well as understanding...

perfection, so often us men seek this in women. Not her inner perfection, but her outer performance. Which not only limits the man's persistence, it also perpetuates the woman's existence as life doors into the
