Dear Reissdovitch@gmail.com

Have we met in the decades old past? Are you one of the four women whom I mistreated, and caused undeserved hardship to? If you are not, then no harm in asking, but if you are- you should try to let me make meaningful restitution to unburden my soul while we both still breathe.

I am puzzled by your poetry. Please speak plain, and if you are the she I think you might be, then please write me direct at the prison. I am a changed man. I was, (if you are she) as you well know, ill equipped for the world because of traumatic mental illness. But I did lots of work to make things better.

You don't have to love me to accept my money, or whatever assistance I can be. Doesn't mean I don't want love, but I can understand if you are she how and why you would bristle at the thought- you and your whole family- I must have put them through a terrible strain. Your father sat me down, gave me a beer, and said, "Give me a break." Then me being puzzled he said a few minutes later, "Your'e gonna wind up in prison." Of course his wisdom escaped me at the time, but after many years of therapy I pieced together the many forks in the road I took the wrong turn. So if you are not her, than please excuse me, but I'm trying hard to retrace my foot steps to undo as much of the harm I caused before its too late,
Lemmeee know.
