The Alternatives to Violence Project (AVP) is an international non-sectarian group of dedicated volunteers of diverse national origins, races and religious affiliations that originated in a collaborative effort between prisoners and Quakers to help people develop effective ways of dealing with conflicts creatively and without violence. Its courses are only offered to voluntary participants. Each workshop consists of an 18-hour intensive program of exercises and discussions designed to develop self-esteem and self-confidence in a trusting and supportive atmosphere. The workshops teach principles of affirmation, communication, cooperation, community-building and creative conflict resolution essential in the exploration of the many nonviolent solutions that are possible in almost every conflict—particularly when approached with a caring attitude toward others.
