

"Everything to Me"

The world and all things of nature therein are phenomenally beautiful and precious, More enthralling are my burning desires and thoughts of ~~us~~.

The greatest gift one could hope to receive upon this earth, would be to discover and embrace one true friend;

In you I've found so much more, a friend with whom I can trust and confide in; a mental and spiritual companion with whom I can ascend into the highest realms of ecstasy without even the first sexual endeavor,

The lightest touch, even the slightest smile from you is enough to send me over that orgasmic wall.

My mind races while we are apart - races tirelessly, chasing and replaying our every moment spent together, I find myself wanting to spend every moment with you - All I seek is to have you near me, And as happy as can be,

For you ~~to~~ My Beloved, are everything to me.

OSK

10/16/2018