

Reply ID: ~~1234~~ fraa Jan. 14, '19

D, So glad you share some of my view points. Even tho I have a tendency to be paranoid, I do believe theres a scheme afoot to perpetuate the correction industry. If any meaningful rehabilitation were to take place, prisoner numbers would decrease - no repeat customers. If prisoner numbers decrease, correction employees of all kinds would be laid off. So why would the interested parties want to do somethings that would eliminate their job position, when right now its a booming growth industry with fantastic salaries, and benefits?

James