"A Blind Man"...

I saw a man the other day,
That by his bunk did kneel and pray,
Giving thanks to God above for his never ending love,
This man was blind and could not see,
Yet he saw more than you or me,
For as he did his prison time he repented for his crime,
His vision was within his soul,
Believing scripture he was told,
Asking forgiveness of his sin,
That after death he'd live again.

I saw a man the other day who made me bow my head and pray;
I felt a tear roll down my cheek as my Saviour I did seek.
