

Reply ID:huxc

Howdy friend,
my thanks for your kind words & sharing your personal tribulations.
I know we all stumble fall, we are all sinners! its what you do with your life from here on out that counts. Being born again in Christ is awsome :0) i am glad to hear your sober 654 days and counting!

i have been clean sober for 21 years this april 30th. God healed me, time heals as we grow up mature and out grow our needs to mask cover up our emotions with drink/drugs.

having come so far in my time here I feel i really can go on to serve the lord do good works in regular prison population. I am at the cross roads now... Courts granted a issue and i wait to see if I will be blessed to get a 3rd chance at re-sentencing. I will take life, if they offer it.

I do not wish to put anyone involved through this mess again a 3rd time! I want to go to semanary become a ministor in Tx darrington prison unit program. preach to these younger guys coming into system.
Its such a godless generation right now. its sad.
God is the God of all comfort :0) AMEN!

I would like to hear from you- write me ok. address on pg, or hit me on www.jpays.com send snail mail ady i can not use j pay, only recieve them ok. I must wrote you the old fassion way.

Godbless you & keep you in His comfort.

In Christ,
Chuck