Almost Out!

I'm down to 7 1/2 months left!

So here's my update:

The cars I now have are a,
1993 Mercury Tracer (needs a Clutch, fluid line, master cylinder, and a battery).
1998 Honda Accord (being fixed and sold)
1999 Honda Civic (being fixed and sold) 1999 Toyota Camry (motor swap, and I have the motor)* I got the year & model wrong before.*

My primary job will be with Iron Workers at $25.08 an hour. (just got their updated information)

I'm going to take another job, either 1/2 days or full time. I'm thinking Amazon, but I'm still trying to see how close they are to Tacoma first.

My nephew use to wear 34" x 34"
pants, I wear 34" x 28" or 30" and all his pants were given to me which is a huge relief for me. Most are practically new.

There's work to be done at the house and I intend to fix all of it. I like to work, it's rewarding to see the results and it keeps me in shape.

Which reminds me, I've been working out for about 6 months or so and I feel better and I can now finally once again stand normal / no flexing my abs and my abs are flat with definition and my chest sticks out farther than my abs. (population 2 months off)

I'm reading the Drivers Guide and preparing for my 1st license. * And my sister will update her 2018 <sup>to</sup> smart phone - 2019, I get hers. * (2018)

I'm learning about taxes, car insurance, and just trying to stay focussed. I did notice taxes are ..... criminal; and I'd like to go to Mars.

My biggest concern is will any woman want me after 21 yrs. in prison? I want to go on Plenty Of Fish.com but don't know the first thing about it. (David Troupe #765714)
