

(UNSPOKEN TRUTH IS THE KEY)

The prison system is design to lock away our connection with the much needed present of women, and uses maneuvers of threats to make sure she stays away. Add that with these fake, and talkative ass dudes around me it makes the system easy to follow, and believe. Do understand that i'm confined physically to this system, and retain my right to connect with whom ever i so choose to. My loyal, and straight-forward characteristics allows for women to feel comfortable around me, and that's a quality very few have.

The system teaches that all inmates are manipulators, and only out to gain access to some form of contraband. To be honest it's equally true to say that the prisoner is being manipulated as well. Yes some do seek the quick pay out of contraband, and that's only because they've come to understand any bond built is short lived. Furthermore those women who seek connections from the inmate is looking for someone who has to listen to them, and their struggles because you women understand we in a sense have no choice. Along with that you seek those words of encouragement, and self empowerment that guys who are free ain't giving you because their focus is to use you for sex then abuse you, and in the end leave you to deal with your low self esteem.

Put that aside, and focus on each individual seperate to be able to see who is real, and who is fake. I seek to make love to your mind, and learn who you are as a woman. I truely want to know what makes you smile, and what makes you cry. I want to understand your strength, and how you over came your life struggles. So it's true to say innocent communication can bring two unlikely people together no matter what situation they may find themselves in, and soon come to learn their one in the same.

In life you find so many people who've lost out on true connection because of fear of being rejected. Or being afraid to take that leap, and allow someone the chance to make you happy. Why should we have to lock ourselves away from others, and be afraid to build bonds that may be life long. I've lost to many people in the past year i never had the chance to speak to, and i'm no longer holding back.

You've been through something in your life noone should ever endure, being physically abused by the person you entrusted your entire being to. Yet your still standing strong which means your a fighter. Your daily strength to get up, and provide for yourself is what keeps me wanting to know you better. You didn't allow your struggle to define who you are so hide no longer.

A SCAR ONLY MEANS YOUR WERE STRONGER THAN WHO EVER PUT IT THERE.

(REAL TALK ALWAYS)

(THE REBIRTH OF A DETHRONE QUEEN)

Stripped from power as the backbone behind your outer, and inner beauty. You were dethroned, and forced into a prison of hate, shame, guilt, and daily regret. Becoming a punching bag, and sex slave to him when ever he felt less of a man. The dethroning of a queen beating her entire being made her rebirth a sight for all to see.

(LOVE STARTED THE DETHRONING OF THE QUEEN)

For so long you gave you entire self to a guy hoping for a life time of love, and happiness. What started out okay quickly turn out to be a false fantasy, and his beginning to dethrone the beautiful queen. He destroy your outer beauty with every blow leaving your inner beauty damaged, lost, and confused. You once held so much strength, and now your powerless to this world forced to be a slave in his mental prison of PAIN&SUFFERING.

Understand to dethrone a Queen takes alot of work, and he released upon your royal foundation (your body) a massive assault targetting your entire being. He belittled you daily until his words played like a song in your head, and the hatred he forced upon you became your own hatred to yourself. Your ugly, stupid, worthless, and noone will love you but me are the words that stole your self worth.

The physical dethroning of the queen was used to control you, and force you to obey his commands. The punching, and slapping was the way for him to strip your beauty, and make you believe you were ugly, and also to stop you from leaving him. Because he needed you to believe if you tried to leave him noone would want you, and he will beat you for trying to escape his prison.

Self-worth Inner-power Strength Courage
(THE REBIRTH BEGINS FROM WITHIN)

These four persona's are a must for the Queen to rise again, and dethrone her oppressor locking him in his own prison forcing him to be a slave to his mind.

You have to believe that your worthy, and deserve to be treated like the Queen you are. Then you must find the strength to regain your inner-power, and inner-beauty. Your courage to fight, and survive is who you are as long as you believe in you.

You have to daily replace the hatred forced upon you with words of empowerment, and encouragement. The most important tool you have to use is loving yourself. You have to love the good, and bad so that you can grow, and change the things you want to change for yourself. Cherish yourself, and your worth allowing your power to remain to you. Get up, and get out so that you can live your life. Staying confined, and locking others out is only allowing him to win, and still keep you imprisoned in his Mental Prison.
