

Reply Id: hjn9

Hey thanks for getting back to my post. I usually don't get a lot of responses to what I write but I wish i did. I wish i could meet alot more people than I know and people who will enable me to succeed in a real positive way. I appreciate all your posts and can't wait to hear back from you. Can you tell me how much of my book is actually posted on this between the bars site? Just curious...I am trying to make ends meet in here and then figure out how to pay for these lsiesure activites as my dad calls them out there such as publishing my book. I am in college again so that takes time. I am trying to get my associates degree in biblical education and general studie with 2 different colleges, so its 3 different nights a week. Plus, I am still waiting to be trained in HVAC or Electrical trades so i can pursue a decent job upon my release. i hope once i see them next year (parole) they will finally feel like its my time to go. We shall see. Well see ya! Stay well