

Date: 8/3/2019 8:35:19 AM

"LOVE HURTS"

Yes love hurts, oh it can be the most magnificent emotion that us humans can have, but when it goes off track and doesn't go as planned, it causes us so much heartache and misery. And that's where I'm at right now. Last Sunday I broke up with my girl, having to say good bye to her was one of the hardest things I've ever had to do. But she wasn't happy, and I was resenting her for something's that she done. I keep thinking of the fun we did have. The joking picking and just enjoying each others company. God this is difficult! But it was the right thing to do, as she said, hearts change, we've changed. And that seems to be the way we are, we open one door and shut another. And head down another path, hoping its more fruitful, instead of staying on that rocky path and letting it smooth out. Yes love hurts! And I'm just trying to get through this the best way I can.

Ronnie