

Guns in America and Killings every where

Clearly we are not getting the proper mind in the United States repeatedly. Mass shootings over and over. People killing people like it's nothing. assault weapon are still getting into the mental health hands of children still getting a hold of guns. Majority of the mass shooting are teenagers or young adults. Our younger generation what is going on with them? Why is they become so radical with hating certain race or people. We have to realize when we elect certain people in the office who promotes racism like Donald Trump. Who is always smash ^{up} people from other countries and immigrant. This has set precedent for racism to operate in our country. Sometime our youth and younger adults look for people who they will take on their personality traits. They will begin to mimicing or put the hatred into action by harming someone or somethings. We want to make guns legal on campus. Was that a good idea to due to all the school shooting has occurred in America. Why are we still selling assault weapons and magazines? They should have been ban to only military use. I get tired of head lines like ~~San~~ San Diego four days after a man killed 51 people at two mosques in New Zealand, court documents show a San Diego college student expressed regret in a text message that he missed watching the live stream video of the attack and praised the shooter's writing as spot on with everything and something everyone should read. Five days later, authorities say John T. Earnest set a mosque on fire in Escondido, north of San Diego, where seven people on a retreat were sleeping inside and escaped safely. A month later, they say Earnest opened fire during a passover service on April 27, killing one woman and injuring three people including the rabbi. The details in search warrants released Wednesday give the clearest indication yet that Earnest was inspired by shooter Brenton Tarrant and acted on that hatred within days of the New Zealand killings. Earnest 19 years old.

New York A shoot out that left one man dead and 11 people wounded at a Brooklyn community festival over the weekend may have been gang related, the New York Police Department said Monday as the hunt continued for at least two gunmen. Look at the age group six men and five women between ages 21 and 55 were hospitalized with gunshot wounds. Just about all these case are similar to another case. Majority involve our younger generation. What are we going to do about the mindset of our youth before a large amount of them end up in our prison system for life.
