Lead, Follow, or get out of The Way!

Wow! Life is Awesome! I am almost too busy to pay attention, but I find I am able, with Him, to get 'er done! I have quit for credit college work, other than a correspondence Business course, in favor of non-credit earning college prep course. I need to build a foundation of Grammar and Style skills and concentrate on developing Professional Business Communication skills. God gave me the intellect so I have decided to stop "winging it" and get serious, amen.

I have found that life along The Way has seasons of following others, seasons of Leading others and seasons of getting out of the way. right now I am experiencing all three! I need to get out of God's way and allow Him to do what I can't. I need to do the work and allow Him to provide the means. I need to lead my students to success. I need to follow Him along the Path He has established for me. Life is Good!

I have a "Situation". It is included here for your prayers, and hopefully a few comments. This "Situation" is so far beyond my ability to understand how He (God) can pull it off (Provide) but all I have to do, He assures me, is do the work & He will provide the means.

So what are your thoughts?

I now work about 60 hours a week so have little time to interact on a personal level. I would love some comments. Remember, the Journey is the destination! Enjoy It!

love & Prayers,

Russ
