Subject: A lot to look forward too...

The Word of God, from His "Handbook on Life" (Bible, in Proverbs) reminds me that, "a good man will fall down seven times and get back up again, but an evil man will fall into corruption".

While I get discouraged sometimes, I will succeed in the end. Yeah, my life as I once knew it to be is over. But, I do thank God that I have a lot of very exciting things to look forward too. My hope is strong...

If it were not for so many family, friends and military veteran brothers that have walked with me down this difficult road for these 14-years, then I could give up. But I have never been alone or abandoned.

The wounds are deep, the scars are thick, but we are Americans, we are fighters, we cannot give up! And so I must seek my best outcome in this... We must always strive for those generations that will follow.

I have a lot too look forward too...

It's a new beginning. Different, yes...

But exciting to look toward!

As our SEaL brothers say, " Stay in the fight!"
