

Dear Aona 186,

06-27-20

Howdy! Thank you again for commenting! I'm SO GLAD to hear from you! I did send a reply to your last comments, I hope they were published.

I was very touched by your comments, they brought tears to my eyes. I often think that no one gives a damn about me + my future seems so bleak + hopeless. It's so hard to stay positive + I just want to give up. I am very grateful to you for your support.

As you will read in my latest post, I don't have to deal with that last cellie anymore. With any luck I will get a decent cellie next time.

Yes, I am so glad that Redbeard is being transferred. In other places, a thief like him would get stabbed or at least beaten up. At this compound, guys will still hang out + be buddies with inmates who are "rats" or thieves. I do not get it. I'm not into violence, but these guys should at least be shunned, not treated like they're cool.

Thanks again for your comments + I hope to hear from you again.

Many Blessings,

