

=====
===== Reply to ID vmhu =====

August 3, 2020 @ OSCl

Hey again GN22!

1984? Most definitely! This kind of thing is just surreal and all too common as you say. I help people with legal work and my situation was not even close to the worst I've heard. Excellent book btw!

From my perspective evaluating any situation is more a matter of common sense than any specialized knowledge so don't put yourself down. I just wish our elected officials would display the same attributes ;-)

Of course, that's assuming they even know what they're voting for or against. There was a bit of "I didn't know that was in there!" in the past couple of months at the Wisconsin level and federal. You'd think that if it's someone's job then they should at least know something. Unfortunately, a lot of legislation lately combines a vicious duo of lack of common sense and knowledge. Let's not get into accountability!

I appreciate your support. Please vote your conscience in the upcoming election. And if you're one of the BtB's volunteers.... thank you for this forum!

Solidarity,
Tony