

THE MINUTE MEN WILL RISE AGAIN

WE are going to see soon in America what has been playing out in South Africa with the white farmers and radical Blacks. Should whites be concerned here in the USA that radical Blacks are taking to the streets and murdering innocent whites even those that have marched in protest of our law enforcement. Many whites are already expecting more civil unrest. But we do have a fraction of the white population that wear blinders and believe that they are changing people by their demonstrations beside African American history always somewhat repeats its self - just look back and see. Our country is split - many weird and hopeful views have surfaced. One that should always be in white people's mind - Do you really think other races have forgiven you for how white people have treated them in the past. Don't be fooled with time.
