first off I would like to apologize to everyone who has spent time on my blog...

I've been in out of the bing "IMU" these last few years dealing with my own issues and growing up.

It has really been a rough few years, for all of us in here and our families, friends and everyone in general with covid, with that being said, I would like to move on... To more positive views and things I am happy to say that my life is moving in the right direction and I am surrounding myself with like minded people who want me to be successful in my journey. I have grow so much I am no longer the wild ass kid I was when I found myself in this dark place I am a grown man who is full of light, happiness and positivity. I am put my all into getting out of this place with the help of loving people I have been making progress I've hired a lawyer and with the change in laws in my state I am getting closer to having a second chance at life..glory goes to god and I am understanding that life is precious....please if you are able, go to my FB or gofundme and support this cause and even if you can't afford to give please share my story and pray for me as I am in the fight for my life....

thankfully yours Dustin Kelley
