Hi.....

Am I the only lonely guy out here? After everyone being locked down for over a year there must be a few of you that would like to share your experiences with me.

It sure would be appreciated by this ole man, that unfortunately has no real family or friends that truly deserve that name. I'm still holding out hope that there are a few of you that want, need or even desire to befriend this ole man. Look forward to hearing from you.
Ray.....
