

To the internet Bullies,

People who puts other down and say mean things to others. These are the type of people we are dealing with. People who have low self esteem and battling within themselves. Feels better about themselves when they put other people down. Sometime the criticism others give for someone is the ~~mirror~~ mirror reflecting back on them. We've had innocent child to commit suicide because of the bullying on the internet. The things said about Billie Eilish and James Blunt many others was not right. You don't like others bully you or saying mean things about you. Stop this foolishness. Everybody deal with things differently. You might not be gay, weird, or whatever you find strange about the next person. It's not anybody place to live someone else life for them or call people out ~~their~~ names because they are not like you. God created each of us uniquely. He also know the struggles we go through as humans. My charge to the internet Bullies and mean people on the internet. Respect others space and each other. Trust me you don't want nobody violate your space. Respect the move - check mate
