

WHERE IS THE JUSTICE?

Your comments was recently brought to my attention, and after digesting all of your negative remarks, I cannot help but feel..... unfazed.

Over the years I have become numb to criticism, judgemental opinions, small minded people, and Anonymous/unidentified cyberspace "THUGS". You was not present when I allegedly committed any crimes, yet you pronounce me guilty, as if you are certain of my guilt. Your opinions and prejudging is based on tainted media reports, and A prejudiced and biased criminal justice system. I proclaimed my innocence since day one, and I will continue to proclaim this, despite your lack of belief in me. I was placed in captivity to be punished for crimes that I did not commit, yet you seem to applaud the system for incarcerating another innocent blackman.

You go by the name "Justice", but true Justice is the quality of being fair, reasonable, just. Your comments were..... unjustifiable. There was no justifying your remarks, nor any justification to your critique. I was wrongfully convicted, and since your name is "Justice", my question to you is where is the justice?
