

92yu

Marcus; Son

It's been exactly one month since I received your post on my blog site (Address Above, but you know it already)

I can't understand how you could write such heart felt words and then not check if I replied or answer me directly here at the prison? What is it that you so afraid of? You must have questions that mean alot to you that you need answered? Or why write in the first place? You say here you SON deserves to know his Grandfather. Will see. But shouldn't you and I as father and son get to know one another? Oh ya by the way you never even told me his name?? My health isnt so good.

Have you heard from your sister? I broke down and called her on Mothers Day. Last time was Christmas past, he again promising to send me some pictures of all your group and even a few of my own from when I was little. I think she use them as her way to punish me or something??

Hoping all is well and I hear from you soon. ~~say~~ Hi to your brothers for me. Maybe ask why they dont write??

Love
YOU SON<sup>oo</sup>