

Date: 8/10/2022 7:39:34 AM

Subject: Betweenthebars.org/blogs/154/Uhuru's Pen

[evolution of poem series]

" Poetic Hearts "

Started poem at : 5: am

By: Ras Uhuru ©\®™ 7/20/2022

1. Your heart discovered me in a poem , to me your heart is a poem ,
a poem composed of atoms and neutrons , protons and photons and making phone calls .

2. Within those fine and sophisticated lines ,
those sexy commas ,
Socratic semicolons ,
and pontificating apophysis apostrophies to the 3rd power ,
there , we found a new element of love .

3. New because it was ,
it is something unique to us .
a force beyond these words ,
and as bright as all the stars and suns ,
not just our sun .

4. Your metaphors , as wild as a lioness in protection mode , your symbols , suave as the greatest player in the game of life .
your anaphora , oh , that anaphora ... , bodacious , marvest and Suigeneris .

5. Your rhyme scheme is tupac'ish , with a Maya Angelo flow .
your shape and folding of compounds and nouns are frosty like frost .

6. Your pedantic , subtle and smooth ,
like an ocean in the tropics ,
your flavor sweet as summer watermelon with strawberries on top ,
salted with blue sea ;
your form , as caring as care can give ,
and as immaculate as a blank page .

7. And in that poetic heart ...
limit found no space ,
boundary ran it's course .
and finite found infinity ,
and confluence found me .

we are a poem .

5:17 am completion .

see more by googling : uhuru's pen .